

Point of Care Medication Dispensing

A turn-key solution, giving the practice the ability to dispense medications at the point of care to Workers Comp, Cash Pay and Commercially insured patients.

Point of Care Medication Dispensing, sometimes called physician dispensing, provides a major convenience benefit to patients – as well as your practice. It's also a fantastic improvement on the age-old problem of patient prescription compliance. (For example, a 2014 study reported in the Annals of Internal Medicine reported that 1 in 3 of all prescriptions are never filled). Dispensing at the point of care solves this issue completely.

The Point of Care Medication Dispensing process ensures that patients get their prescription drugs immediately, allowing them to start their treatment without delay, improving health outcomes. It also gives patients the opportunity to ask questions about their medications that they might not feel comfortable asking a pharmacist, in the more private environment of your office or clinic.
