

On-Site Physical Therapy Services.

A full solution providing the physician practice the opportunity to provide Physical Therapy as an ancillary service for their patients.

Providing on-site physical rehabilitation service has allowed many physician groups to provide added value to their patients, referral sources and payers. Having an on-site rehabilitation service has benefited practices by: Enhancing patient outcomes through control of protocols of care and facilitating communication with therapy personnel and the supervision of the patient's progress. Creating convenient access for patients by eliminating multiple treatment locations. Creating incremental revenue opportunities by adding a complimentary service to the current medical practice. Compared to other ancillary services, physical therapy has lower start up and fixed costs and favorable reimbursement and regulatory requirements.

Staff skills, productivity, complex coding, documentation and compliance issues can dictate the success or failure of operating a rehabilitation service. IncreMedical's success is based on our commitment to clinical excellence, achieving superior patient outcomes, and treating our employees as clients and our clients as partners. As your management service partner, IncreMedical will deliver our proven clinical management system focused on function and outcomes, operational models to maximize efficiency and an intimate working knowledge of payers, reimbursement and regulatory compliance, assuring the highest level of rehabilitation care available. From initial planning through start-up, development and ongoing clinical management, IncreMedical will assist your organization in achieving superior clinical outcomes and financial results while assuring legal and regulatory compliance, freeing your health care providers to focus on what they do best...patient care.
